Animal Protection Grant of $5,000: Collaboration Opportunity for one Lucky Organization!

For immediate release

Montréal, January 2015 – SPA Canada is offering its annual animal protection grant for the third year in a row in order to allow a deserving organization to work on a collaborative project with SPA Canada. The grant's objective is to increase SPA Canada's impact through an organization that shares their vision of a cruelty free Canada. SPA Canada is offering the chosen organization the resources to achieve a specific project concerning animal protection as well as its support.

“In order to help as many animals as possible, we believe it is important to create partnerships with other organizations who share our values, our vision as well as our mission to protect all animals,” explains Gabriel Villeneuve, President of the Board of Directors. Animal protection is an area that is underfunded by both governmental agencies and corporations and thus depends for the most part on donations from individuals. Through this grant offer, SPA Canada hopes to give a unique opportunity to a Canadian organization.

“Through this grant program, we hope to be the catalyst for many organizations hoping to start projects that will, together, make Canada a safe place for animals,” explains Mr. Villeneuve. All organizations who wish to participate must be a registered Canadian Charitable organization whose mission is animal protection. SPA Canada supports organizations that cover all animals. All interested participants must send their application to contest@spacanada.org before February 1st 2015.

SPA Canada will be happy to grant media interviews.
